Christophe Hartwig

Founder at SSLboard
Los Cristianos

Summary

I'm a passionate software engineer with a track record in both Startup and Corporate environments, with technical and management abilities. I'm looking for new challenges as an architect or in a backend-devops position.

You can't fight entrepreneurship though, so I've also started side projects, some of which became commercial products, some open source or free products, some dead, some still serving users daily.
